

The Prairie Light Review

Volume 14

Number 1 Seasonal Dreams

Article 48

Fall 12-1-1994

The Person Who I Am

Patricia Ochoa

College of DuPage

Follow this and additional works at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr>

Recommended Citation

Ochoa, Patricia (1994) "The Person Who I Am," The Prairie Light Review: Vol. 14 : No. 1 , Article 48.

Available at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr/vol14/iss1/48>

This Selection is brought to you for free and open access by the College Publications at DigitalCommons@COD. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Prairie Light Review by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@COD. For more information, please contact orenick@cod.edu.

The Person Who I Am

by Patricia Ochoa.

The person who I am
has courage and faith,
passion and hate.

The person who I am
is worthy to be trusted
and suspected as well.

The person who I am
is lonely and also afraid
because she loves with the same intensity as she hates.

The person who I am
accepts joy as she
welcomes pain.

The person who I am
sees everything but chooses
to be blind as the rest of the men.

The person who I am
celebrates life
but anxiously awaits death!

All of these I'll allow myself to say....
But I'll not allow myself to say, that I feel guilt for what I am.